

FLEXI SPEAKING AND PERFORMING SYLLABUS 2021

*Whāia te mātauranga hei oranga mō koutou.
Seek after learning for the sake of your wellbeing.*

Educational research is clear about the power of choice in ensuring ongoing engagement for students.

In many of their learning contexts today, students get the opportunity to choose the assessments and evaluations that authentically reflect their interests and learning goals.

Speech New Zealand wants to offer candidates the same opportunities.

Flexibility

This new syllabus is highly flexible.

It allows students to discover their strengths and develop new skills.

It allows more choice in what candidates and teachers wish to study and present for examination.

There are nine levels: Initial to Grade Eight.

Each grade is divided into two parts: TAHI is a list of prepared tasks, RUA is a list of impromptu tasks.

The number of tasks required and the time allowed differs with each grade.

This syllabus runs alongside the current Speech and Drama and the Public Speaking and Communication syllabi, it does not replace them.

Speech New Zealand encourages candidates to be examined in pairs or small groups (maximum of 4). Refer to Examination Procedures, p.62.

If candidates prefer to be examined in a one-to-one situation, this is also acceptable.

Exams can be conducted:

At the scheduled time in the candidates' local centre

Aims and Objectives

- Self-manage their learning
- Exercise personal choice
- Develop clear, audible speech
- Use modulation to engage with the text and communicate with the audience
- Develop thinking skills in the use of language and text
- Develop creativity and imagination
- Develop confidence to discuss their performance reflectively
- Develop self-assurance
- Relate to others
- Participate and contribute

Key Skills

The objectives listed on the previous page are developed through working on chosen tasks in each grade.

Broadly, these fall into four categories:

Talking to People

Learning to communicate through personal and researched ideas; learning to express themselves with clarity, confidence and courtesy in interpersonal, social and formal situations.

Communication through Literature, Poetry and Drama

Learning to communicate and interpret ideas through poetry, storytelling, drama and reading.

Impromptu Skills

Learning to listen, think, and react, and to synthesise ideas through oral language and actions.

Reflective Skills

Learning to evaluate performance experiences and to apply this knowledge to practical situations.

Glossary

Articulation

In this syllabus, the way speech sounds (vowels and consonants) are formed to provide clarity in speaking.

Characterisation

A role from a drama.

(Usually scripted from a play or novel – please note specific criteria for senior levels).

Comic Performance

A performance of either scripted or original material, suited to a specified audience. May be of any genre (including stand-up, mime...)

Delivery

The manner in which material and/or ideas are presented to an audience.

Range: Vocal techniques, gesture, movement, body language...

Devise

Work to develop a performance; this should include a text or a plan of action.

This may develop from an idea, a theme, or other stimulus.

It may incorporate story, text, verse, music, movement, mime etc.

In this syllabus a script or plan of action must be provided.

Drama theorist

Someone who is concerned with:

- a) methods of voice, movement, acting, dramatic composition and production;
- b) the value and social function of drama; and/or,
- c) the relationship between these.

Elements of Drama

The components of drama: role and situation, time, place, mood, symbol, conflict, tension, status, focus of attention, contrast (movement and stillness, light and dark, sound and silence).

Entertaining Speech

In this syllabus, this refers to a speech given at an occasion such as a birthday, wedding, anniversary, reunion etc., where the primary purpose is to entertain.

Form

In this syllabus, 'form' in poetry is defined as the way the poet uses patterns of metre, lines and rhyme.

Genre

A broad category or type that has a tradition or history and is identifiable by specific characteristics, social functions and cultural contexts.

In theatre: mime, comedy, farce, comedy of manners, black comedy, tragedy, physical theatre, epic, absurdist, melodrama etc.

In a novel: epistolary, historical, gothic, romance, mystery, etc.

In poetry: lyric, sonnet, ballad, narrative, light verse etc.

Impromptu Talks

While the topic may be familiar, or researched, impromptu talks have little or no preparation time.

They should be broadly planned, but are not practised; they are delivered in the candidate's own words and in a conversational manner.

Improvisation

A story or event developed from a given title or elements and performed with a combination of physical action, dialogue and mime.

Mime

Actions without words that tell a story or part of a story.

It is expected that the size, shape and weight of objects handled in mime will be shown.

Modulation

An understanding of technical terms such as pitch, pace, pause, inflection and volume; their relationship to the thoughts and feelings of the speaker; their importance in the interest of the listener.

Persuasive Speech Structure

Organisation of material logically planned to persuade the audience to take a specific action.

Plan of Action

An outline of the order of actions/events within a performance. This may be used in devised work or, in junior grades, where a characterisation has been developed using the candidates' own words.

Plea

A planned, organised appeal using persuasive techniques.

Range

The various aspects that may be included in performance and/or discussion.

Reflect/Reflection

An integral part of the learning process.

In this syllabus: Looking back on tasks performed to gain insights into the process; thinking on material/texts used in order to develop understanding.

Candidates should be prepared to offer reflective ideas on their work according to the grade level.

Research

The line of investigation followed on a specified topic.

The scope of any research will be relevant to the age of the candidate and the grade.

Running Commentary

Visualising and describing an event or situation for the benefit of a listening audience.

Social and Historical Context

The period in which a text was written.

This includes the significant historical events and the major social influences of the period on the style, content and ideas of the writer.

An awareness of other writers of the period and their significance may also become part of the social influences on a specific writer or text.

Speech

Where 'voice' and 'speech' are differentiated, the term speech refers to the acquired habit of speaking.

In general terms, the vowels and consonants which form the words and the manner in which those words are spoken.

Staging

The acting space and how it will be used for a specific performance.

Stimulus

Starting point.

Structure

The framework, or arrangement of ideas, that underpins a performance.

In a play: the acts, scenes and sections of scenes.

In a talk: the introduction, signposting, main ideas (including the manner in which these are arranged and linked), summary and conclusion.

See also 'persuasive speech structure'.

Talks

Talks should be in the candidate's own words and delivered in a natural speaking manner, avoiding a written style of language.

It is expected that visual aids used will guide the speaker (and the audience) through the planned ideas/structure.

Talks should not be read or memorised.

Visual Aids

Objects, pictures and charts which aid and enhance the spoken word.

The use of these is encouraged throughout the syllabus.

Electronic aids (provided and arranged by the candidate) may be used.

Vocal Techniques

Understanding of adjustments that can be made to meet the needs of presenting and performing to an audience. Range: articulation, modulation, vocal energy, resonance, breathing and projection . . .

Voice

Where 'voice' and 'speech' are differentiated, the term voice refers to the instinctive use and the sound of the 'voice'.

In general terms this involves the breath, the note and the resonators which form the sound: the quality of tone by which we identify a speaker.

In this syllabus, at Grade 6 where candidates are asked to reflect on 'the work prepared, including the use of voice', there will be at least one reflection within the examination based on the use of voice. Candidates will be expected to show a general understanding of the role that relaxation, breath and projection play in a presentation or performance.

General Information

Assessments

Speech New Zealand grade examinations are assessments of candidates' progress and not an end in themselves.

Marks are not awarded, but successful candidates will be assessed as follows:

PASS:	Most learning criteria are met at a basic level, but some require further development
CREDIT:	Most learning criteria met adequately
MERIT:	Most learning criteria are met competently
HONOURS:	Most learning criteria are mastered

Where some work is particularly commendable in any of these categories examiners may award a 'plus' on the candidate's report.

The 'plus' will also appear on the certificate.

Age of Entry

There is no age restriction for candidates entering grade examinations.

The following list is a guide to teachers in placing candidates in grades:

Initial	7 years and over
Grade 1	8 years and over
Grade 2	9 years and over
Grade 3	10 years and over
Grade 4	12 years and over
Grade 5	13 years and over
Grade 6	15 years and over
Grade 7	16 years and over
Grade 8	17 years and over

Examinations are conducted in English, but brief introductions or phrases in other languages are acceptable.

Certificate of Attainment

Speech New Zealand will award a 'Certificate of Attainment' to candidates with any disability that may affect their performance, if the examiner is satisfied that they are doing the best work they are capable of. Certificates of Attainment will be assessed in the same way as grade examinations. The entry form must have the 'Certificate of Attainment' box checked and be accompanied by the form detailing the specific nature of the candidate's disability. This form is available from the Local Secretary.

Complaints Procedure

Complaints must be received within 14 days of the receipt of results of the examination. All complaints must be in writing and addressed to info@speechnz.co.nz.

English for Speakers of Other Languages

Some speakers for whom English is not the first language, who have reached competency, enter and attain Speech New Zealand grade examinations.

However, the preferred option may be the Speech New Zealand syllabus 'English for Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL)'.

Examination Reports and Certificates

Examination reports will be distributed to teachers by Local Secretaries.

Certificates will be awarded to successful candidates; when certificates are received from National Office the Local Secretary will notify teachers.

Reports and certificates are the property of the candidate.

The examiner's decision is final.

Observers/Audience

Speech New Zealand reserves the right to invite or exclude observers at any examination. From time to time a trainee examiner will be in the examination room and, under the direction of the examiner, may take part in the examination.

Resources

The website www.speechnz.co.nz contains articles relating to specific teaching points, examinations, Speech New Zealand policies and articles of general interest to teachers.

Specific requests for information regarding clarification of the syllabus content or management of the examinations are welcome and should be addressed to info@speechnz.co.nz.

Videoing

Videoing is NOT permitted during examinations unless it is for NCEA purposes and prior arrangements have been made with Speech New Zealand.

National Office must be notified at time of entry.

Examination Procedures

Examinations are conducted in English, but brief introductions or phrases in other languages are acceptable.

Group Work

Learning criteria are best developed and assessed in group situations.

Candidates are encouraged to enter in groups, although individual entries are accepted.

Groups should not exceed four candidates as examiners must be able to assess the work of each individual candidate within the group.

- Each candidate must present all the work prescribed.
- Each candidate must be given equal opportunity.
- Group presentations may be less than, but should not exceed, the total of individual times for that section.

Programmes

In order to assist in the smooth running of the examination, groups must provide the examiner with a combined copy of the programme for their work, set out in the order in which the candidates wish to present it.

Where applicable, this programme must include the intended audience for the exercise.

Candidates may present their work in any order within an examination.

Programmes are required to reflect this order and assist candidates and the examiner in ensuring all work is covered in a timely manner.

Candidates also feel secure when they know the order of their work.

Readings

Unless specified in the syllabus, books may be fiction or non-fiction.

Sight reading may be selected from any part of the book.

Electronic books are not permitted unless necessary for candidates with specific learning requirements.

The Local Secretary is to be notified of the nature of any such specific learning requirement at least two weeks prior to the examination.

Talks

Talks should be in the candidate's own words and delivered in a natural speaking manner, avoiding a written style of language.

It is expected that visual aids used will guide the speaker (and the audience) through the planned ideas/structure.

Talks should not be read or memorised.

Texts

Candidates must supply examiners with legible copies of poems, prose, dramatic extracts and any devised work. In some circumstances a plan of action or outline of key sections may be supplied.

Time limits

Time limits for each task are approximate; however, the total time of Tahi (prepared) tasks should not exceed the overall limit of the tasks (e.g. – Grade Three up to three Tahi tasks equals nine minutes, maximum).

Candidates may be disadvantaged in discussion or impromptu sections if prepared work exceeds time limits.

Visual Aids

The use of visual aids, where appropriate, is encouraged.

These should be the candidate's own work.

Visual Aids – Equipment

It is the responsibility of the candidate to provide any equipment necessary for the presentation of work in the examination.

Candidates who intend to use electronic equipment should advise accordingly at time of entry.
